4 A statement showing the rules in force is put up for the several depts. These rules deal mostly with the qualifications required for entrance into the several services.

5 The action required in order to place the system of recruitment on a proper footing seems to me as follows:—

(1) Frame rules in the case of the few depts which have no such rules

2) Examine the existing rules in order to see whether they are in any way defective.

ANNEXURE.

No. 13534-598, dated Bangalore, 9th February 1915, from Rao Bahadur M. Shama, Rao, Esq., M.A., Inspector-General of Education in Mysore, to C. S. Balasundaram Iyer, Esq., B.A., Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, Departments of Education and Agriculture, Bangalore.

With reference to your D. O. letter No. 1606--Edn. 68-14, dated 27th November 1914, in the matter of utilising the services of Mr. A. Mahadeva Sastri, Curator of the Oriental Library in the direction of placing Sanskrit Education on a more modern basis, I have the honour to submit herewith for the information of Government copies of letters dated 5th and 21st December 1914, from Mr. Mahadeva Sastri furnishing information about the nature of the work done by him, the distribution of work between him and the other Pandits of the Library and submitting also a programme of publication work for the next three years (1915, 1916 and 1917).

2. In this connection it seems to me that a thorough change in the working of the Library is quite essential in the interests of Sanskrit and Kannada Literature. There is at present no proper distribution of work among the members of the staff, the four sections in the proposition statement under the present scale being only shown for the sake of contrast and comparison. The absence of a clear definition of duties between the literary and clerical sections has somewhat led to a waste of expert energy, the services of persons qualified for higher work being often utilized for duties of a routine nature. This defect requires to be remedied. Periodical forecasts of work must be insisted upon and yearly programmes, such as will keep the staff fully occupied should be drawn up before the beginning of each official year. These programmes should contain particulars of the books to be published and the tours to be undertaken for the discovery of manuscripts. In the case of the books to be published, the necessity or the desirability for their publication, the probable duration and the cost of the publication and other particulars should be given. Then again the Oriental Library is practically the only Public Library for conserving valuable Kannada works. It is therefore necessary that a graduate who has specialized in Kannada and has an aptitude for literary work should be added to the staff. It is also necessary to encourage advanced studies in Sanskrit and Kannada as well as Research work. Another step that may be taken with advantage is the appointment of a small Committee of scholars for purposes of consultation in selecting works for publication, in purchasing manuscripts and printed works and generally in all literary undertaking in connection with the Library. The duties of such a Committee have to be clearly defined, all matters, however of internal management being left to the Head of the Library, for the time being, who will be responsible to the Department for the efficiency of the institution in all its Departments. With these objects in view, it is proposed to organize the Library into 4 separate Departments or sections dealing with distinct functions :—

I. The Office.

This will consist of an officer with an allowance of Rs. 100 a month, as per Government Order No. 11064—Edn. 88-13-4, dated 6th May 1914, a clerk on Rs. 40 and 5 servants 1 on Rs. 8, 3 on Rs. 7 each and 1 on Rs. 6. The provision for furniture and office expenses is to be Rs. 25 and Rs. 15 a month respectively. All correspondence and accounts will be attended to in this section. The total cost of this section will be Rs. 215 a month.

II. The Manuscripts and Publication Department.

This Department aims at the conservation of rare and valuable manuscripts and as such, it is the most important section of the Oriental Library. The work to be done in this section is of a three-fold nature.

(a) The collection of manuscripts.—A more systematic search than has been made hitherto should be instituted for the collection of rare and valuable manuscripts in the State. There is a large number of private libraries in the State and the prejudice against disclosing the existence of rare manuscripts has considerably worn down. Consequently a systematic search is sure to result in the discovery of much valuable material for critical investigation. In the Madras Presidency for instance, new manuscripts are still being found out, although the field is being exploited for over a century. The manuscripts sought need not all be of unprinted works; manuscripts of even printed works will be valuable for restoring old texts based upon defective manuscripts.

(b) Proper cataloguing of collected manuscripts.—Many valuable manuscripts have been already collected and a fresh search is certain to result in the acquisition of more. A list of these merely giving their names serves no practical purpose. If they are to be really serviceable to scholars engaged in advanced study or research work, a descriptive catalogue or "Catalogue raisonne" as it is termed should be compiled, as in the case of the various manuscripts libraries of Europe and some of India. Such a catalogue requires time, labour and expense, but has to be published if the collection is not to lose its value.

(c) Publication of works.—Only such works should be selected for publication as are hitherto not printed and are likely to interest Oriental Scholars. The publications must include such introductions, annotations, indexes, etc., as will make the published works really useful to those that may consult them. The services of scholars outside the Library may, if necessary, be utilized for bringing out such useful and critical editions of important works. The following establishment will be needed for this section :—

1. A graduate that has specialized in Kannada (a Kannada M.A. or B.A.) on Rs. 75—10—125.
2. Two resident Pandits on Rs. 75—5—100 each to assist in the publication of rare Sanskrit and Kannada works (one proficient in Sanskrit and the other in Kannada).
3. Two Travelling Pandits on Rs. 50—5—70 to assist in the collection of manuscripts (one proficient in Sanskrit and the other in Kannada).
4. Two Temporary Pandits on Rs. 40 each to assist in the preparation of the Descriptive Catalogue (one proficient in Sanskrit and the other in Kannada). These are to be provisionally entertained till the collected manuscripts are catalogued.
5. Two Proof-readers for Sanskrit and Kannada on Rs. 35 each.
6. Two Copyists for Sanskrit and Kannada on Rs. 30 each.
7. One Pandit Librarian to be in charge of manuscripts on Rs. 30.
8. Two peons for travelling pandits at Rs. 7 each.
9. Two literate attenders on Rs. 10 each.
10. Travelling allowance Rs. 400 (Annual).
11. Purchase of Sanskrit and Kannada Manuscripts Rs. 1,500 (Annual).
12. For purchasing Printing Paper and Types Rs. 2,000 (Annual).

The total average cost of this section will be Rs. 937$\frac{7}{9}$ a month.

III. Printed Works Department.

This Department of the Oriental Library should serve as a well equipped library of reference for the Library staff as well as for other scholars engaged in original research and in the study of oriental subjects. It must include as far as possible :—

1. All printed editions of original works in Sanskrit and Kannada ;
2. All literature in the form of books, reports or magazine articles bearing upon Oriental scholarship ; and
3. A reading room supplied with European, American and Indian Journals dealing with Oriental studies.

This Department must always be up-to-date and kept continually enlarged. Lists of additions to the library made from time to time should be announced to the public through notices posted in a prominent place in the Reading Room.

The establishment, etc., needed for this section is as follows :—

One Librarian	...	...	on Rs. 50—5—70
2 Literate attenders on Rs. 10 each		...	„ 20
Purchase of printed books	...	...	„ 1,000 (Annual).
Binding charges	...	...	„ 200 „
Total average cost	...	...	„ 183 5/9 a month.

IV.—Encouragement of advanced study of Sanskrit and Kannada Research.

(a) For the encouragement of advanced studies in Sanskrit and Kannada, it is proposed to transfer the Pandits' Class from the Training College to the Oriental Library, where there are special facilities for imparting instruction of the required standard. No additional staff will be necessary for this class. The two Pandits of the Training College now engaged in teaching the Pandits' Class, viz., one Senior Sanskrit Pandit on Rs. 45—3—60, and one Senior Kannada Pandit on Rs. 30—3—45 may be transferred to the Oriental Library along with the provision made for the allowances to substitutes for the teachers under training, viz., 8 at Rs. 10 a month. If this proposal is approved, the course of instruction will be modified somewhat and in addition to Sanskrit and Kannada now taught, subjects like Indian History, Epigraphy, Comparative Grammar and Philology will be appropriately introduced. A single class of eight students may take the place of the two classes as existing at present. The students selected for this class may, as hitherto, draw stipends and appear for a Public Examination.

No. 4566-8—EDN. 69-14-4, DATED 10TH NOVEMBER 1917.

(b) Research studentships.—It is also desirable to institute a few Research studentships in order to encourage young men to do research work. These studentships may ordinarily be awarded to graduates who have specialized in Sanskrit or Kannada. Those that have passed the Sanskrit Vidwath or the Kannada Pandits' Examination may also at times be appointed to these studentships, if suitable candidates are forthcoming. The students may be allowed to select their own line of study and pursue it under the supervision of the Library authorities. They may be required to work with either of the following subjects :—

(1) To study from a comparative or historical point of view a particular subject of Sanskrit or Kannada Language or Literature and embody the result of their investigation in a thesis.

(2) To prepare for the press, after due collation and scrutiny, a selected and hitherto unprinted Sanskrit or Kannada work calculated to aid Oriental study.

The period of study may be fixed at two years and the students required to bind themselves to devote their full attention to the work they have selected, and if required, to teach the Kannada Pandits' Class for short periods. A beginning may be made with two such studentships, one for Sanskrit and the other for Kannada, the total award for each student for the two years being fixed at Rs. 1,000. Of this sum, Rs. 800 may be paid in quarterly instalments of Rs. 100 each, if approved work has been done, and the balance of Rs. 200 may be paid after the completion of the work undertaken. Similar studentships instituted by the Madras University carry monthly salaries of Rs. 75 each. The cost of this section will be as follows :—

Stipends for 8 students in the Pandits' Class at Rs. 12 a month.
Two research studentships for Sanskrit and Kannada, Rs. 1,000 a year.
Total average cost, Rs. 179⅓ a month.

It is desirable that an Oriental Library should also contain an Arabic, Persian and Urdu Section. The opening of this section, however, may be postponed for future consideration.

3. Financial aspect of the scheme.—The total average cost of the proposed re-organization amounts to Rs. 1,595⅔ a month, of which Rs. 1,515⅔ is the cost of the permanent establishment and Rs. 80 of the temporary establishment needed. The total average cost of the present establishment of the Library is Rs. 1,362$\frac{13}{18}$ a month. To this should be added the provision of Rs. 175 a month that will be transferred from the Training College on account of the removal of the Pandits' Classes. Thus the total sum available to meet the cost of the proposed scheme is Rs. 1,537$\frac{13}{18}$ a month. The extra cost required comes to Rs. 57$\frac{17}{18}$ a month or Rs. 695⅓ a year. If the temporary establishment is left out of calculation, as it will be entertained only for a few years till the collected manuscripts are catalogued, the revision will result in a net saving of Rs. 22$\frac{1}{18}$ a month or Rs. 264⅔ a year. A proposition statement showing the present and the proposed scales in detail is herewith submitted for favour of perusal.

4. The present Curator, Mr. A. Mahadeva Sastri, will reach his 55th year of age on the 26th of June 1916, and the Government may be pleased to order his retirement from 1st July 1916. In my opinion, however, the re-organization now proposed should be given effect to from the beginning of July 1915, the extra cost of Rs. 4,200 a year on account of the excess pay of Rs. 350 per month due to Mr. Mahadeva Sastri till his retirement being treated as a special grant.

Letter dated 5th December 1914, from Mr. Mahadeva Sastri, to the Inspector-General of Education in Mysore.

I am in receipt of your D. O. No. 670, dated 4th instant, and in reply I beg to state as follows :—

I am now personally editing Gautama-Dharma-Sutra and Taittiriya-Brahmana, II-Ashtaka, and have just taken up the elaboration of the Descriptive Catalogue of Manuscripts. To this must be added detailed supervision of the work of the whole establishment.

There is no authorised distribution of work between me and the Pandits of the Library. No such sharp and definite division has hitherto been made. I have all along been personally editing the Taittiriya-Yajurveda with Bhattabhaskara's Commentary and some such other works as Apastamba-Dharma-Sutra, while I have a share more or less in every piece of work done in the Library, by way of detailed direction and examination.

Last year I edited and passed through the press a part of Gautama-Sutra and revised the edition of Smriti-Chandrika then passing through the press. This year I will finish editing Gautama-Dharmasutra and continue Taittiriya-Brahmana (II Ashtaka) as far as the manuscripts go, and may do two or three sections of the Descriptive Catalogue of Manuscripts. This is the section of the Library's work in which I bear the brunt, while more than half my time and energy is taken up with the remaining portion of the Library's work.

No. 4566-8--Edn. 69-14-4, dated 10th November 1917.

Letter dated 21st December 1914, from Mr. A. Mahadeva Sastri, to the Inspector-General of Education in Mysore.

I beg to submit herewith the memo you have asked for on the Oriental Library's publication work. It is arranged that all the works now on hand will be completed in three years from this date. I have had to discuss at some length with the Pandits concerned as to how it can be done. Hence the time taken.

Memo on Publication Work.

1. The amount of the publishing work shown in the enclosed statement is calculated on the basis of the maximum amount of time that can be devoted to it by the staff, after making due allowances for the many items of the office routine work devolving on all the members of the staff, though more on some and less on others.

2 If the editing and printing of the Brahma Sutras with Dvaita Commentaries and of Kannada Mahabharata should be completed in three years, the establishment requires strengthening by the addition of one Sanskrit and one Kannada Assistant Pandit to assist in the work of collation and proof-reading and also of two attenders who will relieve the two existing copyists of the work of conserving manuscripts and so make them available for copying and collating purposes solely. For a safe preservation of manuscripts especially of the palm-leaf manuscripts the services of two full time attenders are found very necessary.

3. The printing work shown above comes to about 56 pages a week in Sanskrit and 16 pages in Kannada. To cope with this Sanskrit printing work, the Branch Press may require some strengthening by addition of more Devanagari compositors.

Programme of publication for the next three years (1915, 1916, 1917).
